Time-out chairs, naughty mats, rewards and punishments are frustratingly ineffective and highly problematic. Put simply, they don't work! Today's children need more than rewards and punishments. They need us to be skilled in behaviour management!

Parenting—12 simple steps to behaviour success' is putting adults back in control and giving children the 'skills' they need to succeed with their behaviour, communication, choices and actions! Never has there been such an effective and powerful program...
